Kainos are a highly successful 'NI

founded' IT company who deliver digital services and platforms to government, healthcare and the private sector. Our brief was to develop an already established digital hub and adopt and integrate new collaboration areas throughout the Timber Quays facility. Thus reducing and removing conventional workstations and replacing them with engaging collaboration zones. These included flexible acoustic 2 person glazed pods to individual telephone pods and collaboration tables with integrated USB and power and access to digital screens to enable shared knowledge meetings. A vibrant palette of colours and inset carpet zones help Kainos create a workplace to both attract and retain their industry's best talent.
